Gospel Tabernacle Dedication to Be Held Next Sunday

The Rev. Ernest Williams to Deliver Dedication Sermon

BIG DAY IS PLANNED

Mayor Albert Graves and R. P. Bowen Are Listed on Program

The dedication services for the Hope Gospel Tabernacle are announced for the evening service next Sunday beginning at 7:30 o'clock according to an announcement made by the pastor, the Rev. Bert Webb.

The Rev. Ernest S. Williams, General Superintendent of the Assemblies of God, will deliver the dedication sermon and appearing on the program with him will be District Superintendent David Burruss and District Secretary-Treasurer, Robert Sellers of Russellville.

The Rev. Williams will speak in the morning at the 11 o'clock morning worship service at the Tabernacle, and again in the afternoon when a service will be held beginning at 2:30.

It is usual for the general superintendent of all the Assemblies of God in the world to appear in a local church and it is a great opportunity for the people of Hope to hear this outstanding man.

Before his election to his present position he was pastor of a large church in Philadelphia and has in recent months made an extensive tour over much of Europe and several other countries, and comes to Hope with a wealth of information on world conditions and an unusual ability to interpret them in the light of Bible prophecy.

Mayor Albert Graves will speak at the evening service along with R. P. Bowen, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Hope, before the main address of the dedication service by Rev. Williams.

The Tabernacle orchestra under the direction of Ruel Oliver will have part in the services along with the choir and other special musical features arranged for the occasion.

The afternoon service as well as the morning meeting at 11 o'clock will afford the people of Hope an opportunity to hear Rev. Williams in a regular sermon as well as hearing the dedication message in the night service. He will be in Hope for only the one day and the three services, so an invitation is extended to all who can arrange to do so to hear this outstanding minister, considered by many to be one of the foremost preachers of the present day.

Poland Occupies Czech Territory

Britain and France Send Note of Warning to Polish Government

PARIS, France.—(P)—Premiers of Great Britain and France warned Poland Friday against invading Czechoslovakia's eastern territory.

Alarmed by reports from their ambassadors in Warsaw and Prague, Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier instructed their Warsaw representatives to caution the Polish government against the "danger of such action."

Occupied Territory
WARSAW, Poland.—(P)—Poland, charging that Polish demarcation commission had been attacked in Czechoslovakia, Friday completed ahead of schedule the occupation of ceded territory which until now technically was Czechoslovakia.

The entry of Polish troops into these areas was believed to have fulfilled Poland's declared intention to take measures "to obtain satisfaction" and "to protect the territory ceded by Czechoslovakia."

Poland now has taken possession of all the land that Prague agreed to transfer in settlement after the peace pact of Munich.

In 1937, the French courts granted a divorce to a young wife because her husband confessed that he had fallen in love with a ghost.

Death Sentence Given to Carson

Slayer of Hospital Guard to Die in "Chair" February 10

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Joel Carson, 29, confessed slayer of a state hospital guard, J. B. Keller, Friday was sentenced to die in the electric chair February 10.

Carson heard without emotion the sentence pronounced by Judge Gus Fulk.

Defense counsel sought unsuccessfully again Friday to have a sanity hearing for Carson, three times declared sane by state alienists during the past year.

Pine Bluff Wins Thriller From Bobcats, 21 to 13

Zebras Score All of Their Markers During First Half

Much Razzle-Dazzle Is Seen in Final Grid Battle of Year

BOBCATS SCORE FIRST

Zebras Take to the Air to Score Two of Their Three Touchdowns

By LEONARD ELLIS

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—In a thrilling razzle-dazzle football game here Thursday afternoon the Pine Bluff Zebras defeated the Hope High School Bobcats, 21 to 13.

The two teams staged a brilliant offensive battle in the first half which saw the Zebras score in the first few minutes of play and then the Bobcats come from behind to put over three touchdowns to lead at the half, 21 to 6.

Soon after the beginning of the second half, Tackle Norman Green recovered a Pine Bluff fumble behind the Zebras goal line for Hope's second touchdown. Taylor kicked extra point.

There was no more scoring, the game turning into a bruising battle between the two lines.

The game was played before approximately 3,000 shivering fans, including a large delegation from Hope who rode a special train to Pine Bluff.

Many others made the trip in automobiles.

The First Quarter
Jimmy Taylor kicked off to Pine Bluff. LaFite returned to his 30. Langston went over his right tackle for nine yards and then plunged for a first down. Bolly Ellen intercepted a pass on the Pine Bluff 47.

Parsons attempted two passes which fell incomplete and then punted to the Pine Bluff 10. Payne swung around his left end for a first down on the 25. Two line plays left short of a first down and Payne punted to Eason on the Hope 22.

From their own 22, the Bobcats swiftly marched for the first touchdown. Eason broke over his right guard, side-stepped the line-backer and ran to the Pine Bluff 45.

Parsons fired a pass to lanky Jack Fulkerson who took it high in the air, ran for 10 yards and lateraled to Baker who was brought down on the eight-yard line.

Parsons bucked the line for 5 and Eason moved it up to the two where Parsons on the next attempt drove across for touchdown. Jimmy Taylor's attempted kick for extra point was wide.

The Zebras lost little time in scoring, taking the kickoff and returning to the 35. Fulkerson tossed Raymond Brown out for a 7-yard loss and then Pine Bluff punted to Eason, the ball, aided by a strong wind, sailed down to the 15.

The Bobcats tried the line for no gain and then Parsons went back to punt against the wind. He got off a bad boot, the ball sailing out of bounds on his own 17. Hutson hit the line for two to set the stage for the Zebras' first score. Langston, on a reverse, went around his left end and crossed the goal line standing up. Payne kicked extra point and the Zebras led, 7 to 6.

Pine Bluff's second score came two minutes later. The Zebras received loose around end for 20 yards. Payne shot a long pass to LaFite who was brought down on the 10. Hutson picked up two on a line play and then Payne dropped back and fired a pass to LaFite who took the ball across the goal line. Payne again kicked extra point.

Hope received, returning to the 20. Parsons made two on a line play as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter
A series of punts, penalties, and recovered fumbles on both sides finally ended with Parsons punting over the Pine Bluff goal line. The ball was brought out and put in play on the 20 where the Zebras once more put on a drive for touchdown. From the 20, Payne and Hutson moved it to the 40 on a lateral. Payne passed to LaFite on the Hope 30 and then two plays later Payne passed to Alex Leftwich for touchdown. Payne again kicked the extra point, making the score 21 to 6.

With two minutes left in the first half, Coach Allan Dunaway showered the field with substitutes. Neither team able to do much with the ball, the half ending with Pine Bluff in possession.

The Third Quarter
The second half was mostly a battle of attrition.

Assets of Banks to Be Sold at Auction

More Than 75 Properties Are Listed for Two-Day Auction

G. S. Jernigan, State Bank Commissioner, has announced plans to sell at auction the remaining real estate assets of two closed state banks, Arkansas Bank & Trust Co. of Hope and Planters Bank & Trust Co. of Nashville.

These auction sales are in line with the policy of the State Bank Department in hastening an orderly liquidation of closed state banks. Dates set for the sales December 7 at Hope and December 8 at Nashville.

The State Bank Department has contracted with the Murrey-Young Company to act as selling agents. This firm has been notably successful in conducting similar sales in connection with closed national banks over the country for the past several years. They have been highly recommended by the Governor, the Controller of the Currency of the United States and national bank receivers.

Included in the sale are more than 75 properties including the two bank buildings, several houses, vacant lots, farms, orchards and inner tracks. The selling agents have set up offices in both cities and are prepared to give complete information or show the properties to any interested prospective purchasers.

An illustrated descriptive list has been printed and distributed; a copy may be obtained by writing the agents or calling at their office in the bank building.

Arkansas High School Title Is Won by Little Rock Tigers

Score 13 to 7 Victory Over North Little Rock—Grid Campaign Closes for Most Schools

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The Little Rock Tigers won the Arkansas high school football conference title, generally accepted as the state championship, Thursday by whipping their traditional rivalry, North Little Rock Wildcats 13-7.

The victory, the eighth straight for the Tigers over the Wildcats, climaxed one of the Tigers' most successful seasons. They won nine of their 10 starts and were tied once—14 to 14—by Pine Bluff.

Anderson and Hughes were the big offensive guns for the champions who registered 17 first downs to 10 for the North Siders. Atkinson tallied in the first period and Hughes in the third. Baer converted the extra point from placement for the Tigers in the first.

The Wildcats knotted the score in the second when Knottworth, ace Wildcat back, took a pass from Zawislak for the marker and Zawislak kicked the extra point.

Conference Scores
NEW YORK.—(P)—Football's season nearing its close, saw two new conference champions determined Thursday.

Cornell's Big Reds won the Ivy league title through a scoreless tie with Pennsylvania and Tennessee completed its undefeated Southeastern Conference campaign with a 46-to-0 rout of Kentucky.

Some 70,000 packed Franklin Field at Philadelphia for the Ivy League feature and another 60,000 turned out for the Pacific coast battle between Southern California and U. C. L. A., which the Trojans won, 42 to 7.

Two Games Called Off
It showed as far South as Birmingham, Ala., where Alabama closed its season with a 7-to-0 triumph over Vanderbilt, and games between Duquesne and Niagara at Pittsburgh and Marshall and West Virginia Wesleyan at Huntington, W. Va., had to be called off.

But in spite of the weather, or because of it, form was followed closely—even to a 2-to-2 tie by Virginia Military and Virginia Polytechnic, who have had nearly as many deadlocks as decisions in their long rivalry.

Carnegie Tech, one of the East's outstanding eleven and beaten only by Notre Dame, closed its campaign with a 14-0 victory over North Carolina State and undefeated Villanova paraded through Manhattan, 20-0.

Brown-Columbia Outstanding
At Providence, R. I., where Brown outscored Columbia, 38-26, in the season's highest scoring extravaganza in which both teams participated, the Bears and Sid Luckman who scored once for the Lions and passed for three other touchdowns.

In the Midwest Western Reserve won its twelfth consecutive game by humbling Case School of Applied Science, 13-3, and Dayton earned a tie for the Buckeye Conference title with a 25-0 conquest of Ohio Wesleyan.

Nebraska beat Kansas State, 14-7, and Missouri topped its old rival, Kansas, 13-7. This moved Nebraska and Missouri into a tie for third place in the Big Six Conference.

Texas Beats Aggies
The big news from the Southwest was Dana Bible's Texas team noosing out Texas A. & M., 7 to 6, for its first conference victory of the season. Arkansas and Tulsa battled to a 6-6 draw. Montana whipped Arizona, 7 to 0. New Mexico overpowered Colorado State, 27 to 7; Denver outscored Colorado, 19 to 12, and Idaho stopped Utah, 16 to 0.

How to Go Broke Raising Chickens
LEXINGTON, Ky.—(P)—The University of Kentucky college of agriculture has compiled a list of ten ways to go broke in the poultry business. The list, gotten together from reports received at the college, follows:

"Start chicks too late; start with poor quality chicks; brood in filth, poorly ventilated quarters quit feeding mash after first few weeks; raise pullets on disease and parasite infested ground; allow pullets to become infested with worms; house birds in uncomfortable quarters; fail to control lice and mites; feed a ration of white corn and ice water in winter; fail to cull more than once a year."

Says You Also Marry Your Mate's Family
AMES, Ia.—(P)—Marrying the boy or girl means marrying his or her family, too, says Sociologist C. Arnold Anderson of Iowa State University.

"Marrying is to a large degree a union of families and groups as well as of individuals," Anderson said after completing a study of human mating habits.

Red Cross Drive Nearly Complete

New Tabulation Friday Brings Total Fund to $715.62

The Annual Roll Call Drive of the American Red Cross has now entered its final stages. The various workers are rapidly turning in their reports.

The reports have been gratifying but there are many people in the county who have not joined the Red Cross this year who should do so. For that reason if there are any persons who desire to enroll before the actual winding up of the drive they are urged to contact Mrs. Finley Ward and Mrs. J. C. Carlton in ward one; Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Jim Henry in ward four; Mrs. L. W. Young in ward two, and Mrs. A. J. Neighbors in ward three or Lyman Armstrong in the business district of Hope.

Community captains in any of the rural communities will be pleased to receive any additional memberships. Membership dues may also be left at either bank or the Hope Star office.

DAMAGE EXTENDS INTO MILLIONS AS FLAMES JUMP FIRELINES

FANNED BY WIND
Homes of Several Movie Stars Threatened in Mountain Area

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(P)—A forest fire raced across the rim of San Bernardino mountains Friday toward the crest of the forest district with its 4,000 cabins, residences, stores and hotels in its path.

Fanned by a brisk wind, the flames jumped firelines established along highways and headed for the community pincers.

Charles H. Plummer of the United States Forest Service, describing the situation as "extremely serious," said that men had been stationed throughout the endangered area to assist in evacuation "if that becomes necessary."

Rogers' Ranch Saved
The Will Rogers ranch was saved but fire still roared out of control eight miles away. In the Fernwood area, where 2000 persons live, flames gained new headway when a fire hose was burned through.

From one front after another, however, came reports the flames

Government Inspection Prevents Infestation From Unfit Beef

The life of the beef parasite resembles that of a fish parasite except that in this case the intermediary animal is of the bovine species. In a recent review of this subject the chief of the Zoological Divisions of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry points out that two recent outbreaks of this condition have occurred in cattle. In each instance the animals developed the infestation from contact with a single human being who was a carrier of this disease.

These tapeworms will grow quite long inside the human being. Every segment of this thousand eggs and over a period of several years a human being may expel a few of these segments every day. Hundreds of cattle can become infested from a single human carrier if he happens to live in an area where cattle are plentiful.

In one outbreak it was discovered that the water supply for cattle was taken from a river 75 yards below a sewer outlet. The banks of the river were used as a public park. Tramps commonly slept in a stable in which cotton seed hulls used for feeding the cattle were stored. Thus the cattle were exposed to infestation from many different places, and 20 per cent of all the cattle in that area were found to be infested with the beef tapeworm.

Human beings can become infested from eating raw beef or beef that is raw. Rare roast beef is a common American dish. The fact that more people do not become infested from tapeworms from this source is due entirely to the provisions that meat inspection gives to the public. Cooking at a high temperature will also destroy the parasites.

It should be remembered, however, that only about two-thirds of the beef slaughtered in the United States is subjected to federal inspection and that slaughtering of beef away from federal inspection does not do away with the possibility of eating beef infested with tapeworms.

The symptoms of beef tapeworm infestation are just about the same as those of infestation with the fish tapeworm. It is quite possible to be free of such tapeworms by suitable treatment. Cooking the beef until it is well done is a safe preventative

Tuberculosis Continues a Serious Problem Among Young Women

For some years it has been apparent that tuberculosis still continues to be a serious problem among young women; their death rates from this disease are considerably higher than those for young men of the same age. Many views have been expressed as to the cause of this apparent increase in tuberculosis among young women.

It has been presumed, for example, that it was associated with the strict dieting in recent years. It has been credited to the changes in habits of young women, such as new interests in physical exercise and taking up of industrial occupations, and similar changes.

However, the latest figures assembled by the National Tuberculosis Association indicate that tuberculosis among young women did not increase at the same time as the coming of the so-called "flapper era" but that what has actually happened is that tuberculosis has been steadily decreasing in all other age groups but not decreasing among young women.

The authorities of the National Tuberculosis Association are inclined to credit some of the difficulty to the entrance of women into industry. They are not inclined to believe that the dieting had much to do with the development of tuberculosis in this group because they feel that the number of girls who have cut down their food intake seriously is negligible.

The wearing of low shoes, silk stockings, light weight underclothing and short skirts is believed by many to be responsible, yet the figures show that in 1929 a prominent physician blamed tuberculosis on these causes and certainly the clothing worn by women in 1929 would not be considered scanty in these modern times.

Thus the discarding of "adequate" clothing for flimsy underwear and silk stockings has really not been proved to be responsible in any way for the mortality from tuberculosis among young women.

Finally, one authority has insisted that women during the period from 15 to 25 undergo physiologic changes associated with sexual development. This is the one uniform factor that is present and many authorities are inclined to accept this as the best explanation as to why tuberculosis has not decreased among young girls in this period of life although it has decreased in every other age group.

In order to learn more about this subject the investigators studied the mortality from tuberculosis among girls and young women between the ages of 15 to 25 in Detroit and in New York

City over a one-year period. They found that there was no evidence of greater mortality among uneducated than among educated girls and that education and school life did not have a direct bearing on this problem.

These studies also proved the failure of the factors that have already been mentioned to influence the death rate from tuberculosis except the one factor of the regular and physical changes of youth and early adult life.

In order to control this problem it is necessary to make greater efforts to discover the existence of tuberculosis at the earliest possible moment and to place it under competent treatment at once. The discovery of tuberculosis in school children at regular examinations would probably be of the greatest help in this connection.

Ouachita Extended to Defeat Hendrix

Tigers Come From Behind to Annex 20 to 12 Victory

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. — (AP) — The Ouachita College Tigers came from behind Thursday to defeat the Hendrix College Warriors 20-12 in a hard-fought Turkey Day battle featured by many passes and hurried by numerous fumbles.

The Warriors claimed first blood in the waning moments of the first period when Scott Hendrix right half, under a Tiger pass in midfield and galloped 45 yards down the sidelines to a touchdown.

The Tigers returned the compliment in the second period when Nelson, left half, intercepted a Warrior pass, intended to Westbrook who romped 35 yards to score. Mann, right end, converted from placement.

In the third, the Tigers put on a sustained drive that carried to the Warrior five yard line from where Tilly pushed through to score. Mann booted the extra point.

Again the Tigers drove deep into Warrior territory on a mixed attack. A long pass from Smith to Mann, good for 28 yards, put the ball on the four yard stripe from where Westbrook dived over for the final marker.

Hendrix rallied in the closing minutes of the game, using the Grignon to Kennedy passing combination to carry them to the 35. At that point Grignon led a long pass to Norman for the second Warrior tally.

The game was the feature of the Ouachita homecoming and concluded the Tiger and Hendrix season.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of AdvanceHonesty in All Things
Text: Exodus 20:15; Luke 19:1-10, 45, 46

Our lesson on the eighth Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," contains a New Testament story which is itself a lesson upon the Commandment. The Commandment is simple, old and plain. It does not go into any niceties of definition to define just what is stealing. It does not consider such questions as the rightfulness of possession, nor whether the thief might not under certain circumstances be more entitled to the things stolen than the man from whom they were taken. We must remember, of course, that these Commandments have their origin and emphasis in a simple and rather primitive society where the conditions of life were not complex and where, if a man stole from his fellow, he took that which was likely to be the direct product of his neighbor's labor and honesty.

In a complex society many questions arise. A professor of ethics, under whom I studied, used to tell a story of a man who was walking across a field on an English estate. The owner of the field came upon him and, accusing him of trespassing on his land, ordered him off. The trespasser questioned his right. He wanted to know where the owner got the land. The owner replied that he got it from his father. "And where did he get it?" continued the trespasser. He got it from his father. And so it went on, back to the original ancestor who, the owner said, fought for it. At that, the trespasser pulled himself into a fighting mood and said, "I'll fight thee for it now."

Social matters, whatever may be the rights or wrongs of the past, are today not quite so simple. We are living in a world of law, and although the law itself may not always operate fairly or uphold inherent justice, we would have a condition of far greater chaos, disorder and injustice, if every man were to decide for himself to take from his fellowman what he thinks he ought to have. This is the point at which the Commandment has very real validity, even in our modern world where there is so much lack of justice and inherent right.

But the story of Zachaeus, the publican, throws some light upon this problem of the reality of ownership and the reality of theft. Here was this man Zachaeus, a collector of taxes. It was the custom in those days for a man to pay so much for the privilege of collecting the taxes, and he was wont to make as much as he could for himself by extortion.

Whether Zachaeus practiced extortion or not is not clear, but when Jesus came into his life and salvation came to Zachaeus, he dared to look at his own business life and work, and he said, "If I have taken wrongfully anything of any man, I restore fourfold."

That was what a thief was compelled to restore under the law. Zachaeus said in effect, "If I have taken anything that really does not belong to me, I am a thief, and I want to square my conscience by restoring a thief's portion."

What a revelation would come to the world and what a change, if all men similarly met Jesus and faced their lives and their actions upon such a basis of reality! Zachaeus had learned the meaning of the Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

it up the field for a first down on the 31.

The Bobcat line was charging fast and Pine Bluff was shoved back on two unsuccessful attempts in running with the ball. Payne then went back to pass from punt formation. He was rushed and hit hard by Fulkerson, the goal line where Tackle Norman Green fell on it for Hope's second touchdown. Taylor split the uprights and the score was 21 to 13.

Taylor kicked to Meroney who was brought down by Quimby on the 28. Unable to gain, Payne kicked out on the Hope 45. Two plays later, Eason fumbled and Pine Bluff recovered on the Hope 45. Hutson and Langston plunged for a first down and then Tommy Turner recovered a Zebra fumble. Parsons tried two passes, Woodell intercepting the second one near midfield. Line plays and passes took the ball to the Hope 20 where Jimmy Taylor intercepted and ran it back to the 32. Failing to gain on line plays, Parsons punted to the Pine Bluff 40 as the quarter ended.

The Fourth Quarter

The Zebras picked up 20 yards to advance to the Hope 40 where stiff line play by the Bobcats forced Payne to punt to Eason on his own 5 Eason and Parsons made 8 yards and on third down Parsons punted to his 35. Fulkerson shoved Langston back for a 6-yard loss. Passes and line plays failed, Payne punting over the Hope goal line on fourth down.

The ball was brought back out on the 20. The Bobcats were unable to gain on a line play. A pass fell incomplete and Parsons punted to the Pine Bluff 45. Hope soon took possession again when Payne punted to Eason on his 40. Parsons passed to Eason for nine yards, but were held on the next two plays, Parsons punting to the Pine Bluff 25.

Strong line play held the Zebras for little gain and Payne punted to Eason on the Hope 35. With about one minute left to play, Payne intercepted Parsons' pass and ran to the Hope 40.

It looked as though the Zebras were headed for a touchdown, a reverse play taking the ball to the 30. Stallworth moved it nearer the goal with a 10-yard gain. Two more plays took it to the 15 as the gun ended the battle.

Outstanding in the Hope lineup were Captain Dean Parsons, Bobby Ellen, Jack Fulkerson and Jimmy Taylor. Other members of the team played good football and fought hard.

For Pine Bluff, the all-around play of Langston, Payne, Lafitte and Woodell, stood out.

Summary of Game
First downs, Hope 7; Pine Bluff 16. Hope attempted 16 passes, completed seven and had two intercepted. Pine Bluff attempted 19, completed eight and had two intercepted. Hope was penalized three times for a loss of 25 yards. Pine Bluff penalized seven times for a loss of 45 yards. Scoring touchdowns for Hope were Parsons and Green, for Pine Bluff, Langston, Lafitte and Leftwich.

developed later that the flames veered around this as well as 150 homes in the Topanga canyon community of Fernwood, first reported burned.

Bel-Air, exclusive residential colony containing homes of many prominent film personages, is several miles east of the main fire area.

Seventy-five firemen with trucks and hose averted possible destruction of the ranch estate of the late Will Rogers, actor-humorist, while members of his family loaded valuable belongings into vans, ready for flight. Approaching on three sides, the fire cast an ember that ignited a corner of the stables, but this was quickly extinguished.

Mrs. Betty Rogers finally was induced to leave by automobile, but her children, Will, Jr., Mary and James, remained behind with actors Carrillo and Bruce Cabot to aid the firemen.

It was unofficially estimated that 35 to 45 square miles were burned over in the Santa Monica mountain region.

Most of the destroyed homes and camps were in the Topanga canyon area near the ocean and a few miles north of Santa Monica. In Topanga canyon, 100 cabins are known to have been destroyed. Known losses in nearby localities included eight cabins and a store at Castellamare beach, and 19 other cabins in areas northward.

Since announcing my candidacy for the office of Mayor, I have had serious illness in my family, which has kept me from making a personal house-to-house campaign, and explaining to each and every voter the importance of carefully selecting the next Mayor of our City. Therefore, I take this opportunity to state my position on the more important matters involved.

As your Mayor I shall endeavor to see that the City co-operates and does its part to secure work projects and W.P.A. funds for the City.

We need more highways in Hope and its trade territory; and as your Mayor I shall use my best efforts to secure more and better highways for Hope and its trade territory.

I shall oppose any and every move, or attempted move, to SELL, LEASE, OR OTHERWISE DISPOSE OF OUR MUNICIPAL WATER AND LIGHT PLANT. Every patriotic citizen of Hope should have this same attitude toward our water and light plant.

I have made no promises to anyone about any appointment or recommendation as to any job, position or office, and will not do so until after I am elected.

As your Mayor I will bring to the office the experience I have gained, and will devote the proper time and energy to the duties of the office to make Hope the finest and best City of Southwest Arkansas.

Government Inspection Prevents Infestation From Unfit Beef

The life of the beef parasite resembles that of a fish parasite except that in this case the intermediary animal is of the bovine species. In a recent review of this subject the chief of the Zoological Divisions of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry points out that two recent outbreaks of this condition have occurred in cattle. In each instance the animals developed the infection from contact with a single human being who was a carrier of this disease.

These tapeworms will grow quite long inside the human being. Every segment of this thousand eggs and over a period of several years a human being may expel a few of these segments every day. Hundreds of cattle can become infested from a single human carrier if he happens to live in an area where cattle are plentiful.

In one outbreak it was discovered that the water supply for cattle was taken from a river 75 yards below a sewer outlet. The banks of the river were used as a public park. Tramps commonly slept in a stable in which cotton seed hulls used for feeding the cattle were stored. Thus the cattle were exposed to infestation from many different places, and 20 per cent of all the cattle in that area were found to be infested with the beef tapeworm.

Human beings can become infested from eating raw beef or beef that is rare. Rare roast beef is a common American dish. The fact that more people do not become infested from tapeworms from this source is due entirely to the protection that meat inspection gives to the public. Cooking at a high temperature will also destroy the parasites.

It should be remembered, however, that only about two-thirds of the beef slaughtered in the United States is subjected to federal inspection and that slaughtering of beef away from federal inspection does not do away with the possibility of eating beef infested with tapeworms.

The symptoms of beef tapeworm infestation are just about the same as those of infestation with the fish tapeworm. It is quite possible to be freed of such tapeworms by suitable treatment. Cooking the beef until it is well done is a safe preventative

For some years it has been apparent that tuberculosis still continues to be a serious problem among young women; their death rates from this disease are considerably higher than those for young men of the same ages. Many views have been expressed as to the causes of this apparent increase in tuberculosis among young women.

It has been presumed, for example, that it was associated with the straddled in recent years. It has been credited to the changes in habits of young women, such as new interests in physical exercise, and taking up of industrial occupations, and similar changes.

However, the latest figures assembled by the National Tuberculosis Association indicate that tuberculosis among young women did not increase at the same time as the coming of the so-called "flapper era" but that what has actually happened is that tuberculosis has been steadily decreasing in all other age groups but not decreasing among young women.

The authorities of the National Tuberculosis Association are inclined to credit some of the difficulty to the entrance of women into industry. They are not inclined to believe that the dieting fad has much to do with the development of tuberculosis in this group because they feel that the number of girls who have cut down their food intake seriously is negligible.

The wearing of low shoes, silk stockings, light weight underclothing and short skirts is believed by many to be responsible, yet the figures show that in 1920 a prominent physician blamed tuberculosis on these causes and certainly the clothing worn by women in 1920 would not be considered scanty in these modern times.

Thus the discerning of "adequate" clothing for flimsy underwear and silk stockings has really not been proved to be responsible in any way for the mortality from tuberculosis among young women.

Finally, one authority has insisted that women during the period from 15 to 25 undergo physiologic changes associated with sexual development. This is the one uniform factor that is present and many authorities are inclined to accept this as the real explanation as to why tuberculosis has not decreased among young girls in this period of life although it has decreased in every other age group.

In order to learn more about this subject the investigators studied the mortality from tuberculosis among girls and young women between the ages of 15 to 25 in Detroit and in New York

City over a one-year period. They found that there was no evidence of greater mortality among uneducated than among educated girls and that education and school life did not have a direct bearing on this problem.

These studies also proved the failure of the factors that have already been mentioned to influence the deaths from tuberculosis except the one factor of the psychic and physical changes of youth and early adult life.

In order to control this problem it is necessary to make greater efforts to discover the existence of tuberculosis at the earliest possible moment and to place it under competent treatment at once. The discovery of tuberculosis in school children at regular examinations would probably be of the greatest help in this connection.

Tigers Come From Behind to Annex 20 to 12 Victory

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. — (AP) — The Ouachita College Tigers came from behind Thursday to defeat the Hendrix College Warriors 20-12 in a hard fought Turkey Day battle featured by many passes and marred by numerous fumbles.

The Warriors claimed first blood in the winning moments of the first period when Scott, Hendrix right half, intercepted a Tiger pass in midfield and galloped 45 yards down the sidelines to a touchdown.

The Tigers returned the compliment

in the second period when Nelson, left half, intercepted a Warrior pass, interlarded to Westbrook who romped 35 yards to score. Mann, right end, converted from placement.

In the third, the Tigers put on a sustained drive that carried to the Warrior five yard line from where Tilley pushed through to score. Mann booted the extra point.

Again the Tigers drove deep into Warrior territory on a mixed attack. A long pass from Smith to Mann, good for 28 yards, put the ball on the four yard stripe from where Westbrook dived over for the final marker.

Hendrix rallied in the closing minutes of the game, using the Gregson to Kennedy passing combination to carry them to the 36. At that point Gregson let fly a long pass to Norman for the second Warrior tally.

The game was the feature of the Ouachita homecoming and concluded the Tiger and Hendrix season.

Honesty in All Things
Text: Exodus 20:15; Luke 19:1-10, 45, 46

Our lesson on the eighth Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," contains a New Testament story which is itself a lesson upon the Commandment. The Commandment is simple, old and plain. It does not go into any niceties of definition to define just what is stealing. It does not consider such questions as the rightfulness of possession, nor whether the thief might not under certain circumstances be more entitled to the things stolen than the man from whom they were taken. We must remember, of course, that these Commandments have their origin and emphasis in a simple and rather primitive society where the conditions of life were not complex and where, if a man stole from his fellow, he took that which was likely to be the direct product of his neighbor's labor and honesty.

In a complex society many questions arise. A professor of ethics, under whom I studied, used to tell a story of a man who was walking across a field on an English estate. The owner of the field came upon him and, accusing him of trespassing on his land, ordered him off. The trespasser questioned his right. He wanted to know where the owner got the land. The owner replied that he got it from his father. "And where did he get it?" continued the trespasser. He got it from his father. And so it went on, back to the original ancestor who, the owner said, fought for it. At that, the trespasser pulled himself into a fighting mood and said, "I'll fight thee for it now."

Social matters, whatever may be the rights or wrongs of the past, are today not quite so simple. We are living in a world of law, and although the law itself may not always operate fairly or uphold inherent justice, we would have a condition of far greater chaos, disorder and injustice if every man were to decide for himself to take from his fellowman what he thinks he ought to have. This is the point at which the Commandment has its real validity, even in our modern world where there is so much lack of justice and inherent right.

But the story of Zacchaeus, the publican, throws some light upon this problem of the reality of ownership and the reality of theft. Here was this man Zacchaeus, a collector of taxes. It was the custom in those days for a man to pay so much for the privilege of collecting the taxes, and he was wont to make as much as he could for himself by extortion.

Whether Zacchaeus practiced extortion or not is not clear, but when Jesus came into his life and salvation came to Zacchaeus, he dared to look at his own business life and work, and he said, "If I have taken wrongfully anything of any man, I restore fourfold."

That was what a thief was compelled to restore under the law. Zacchaeus said in effect, "If I have taken anything that really does not belong to me, I am a thief, and I want to square my conscience by restoring a thief's portion."

What a revelation would come to the world and what a change, if all men similarly met Jesus and faced their lives and their actions upon such a basis of reality! Zacchaeus had learned the meaning of the Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

between the two lines with Parsons, Ellen, Fulkerson and Jimmy Taylor showing up well for the Bobcats. Woodell, Pine Bluff center, Lafitte, and Malcolm McPhail were powerful defensive players in the Zebra line.

Pine Bluff took the kickoff, Payne racing back to his 20 where he was tackled by Joe Eason. Hutson and Langston failed to make a first down and Pine Bluff pointed out of bounds on the Hope 45. The Bobcats were unable to gain and Parsons pointed to the Pine Bluff 21. Hutson brought it up the field for a first down on the 31.

The Bobcat line was charging fast and Pine Bluff was shoved back on two unsuccessful attempts in running with the ball. Payne then went back to pass from punt formation. He was rushed and hit hard by Fulkerson, the ball sailing backwards and across the goal line where Tackle Norman Green fell on it for Hope's second touchdown. Taylor split the uprights and the score was 21 to 13.

Taylor kicked to Meroney who was brought down by Quimby on the 28. Unable to gain, Payne kicked out on the Hope 45. Two plays later, Eason fumbled and Pine Bluff recovered on the Hope 45. Hutson and Langston plunged for a first down and then Tommy Turner recovered a Zebra fumble. Parsons tried two passes. Woodell intercepting the second one near midfield. Line plays and passes took the ball to the Hope 20 where Jimmy Taylor intercepted and ran it back to the 32. Failing to gain on line plays, Parsons pointed to the Pine Bluff 40 as the quarter ended.

The Fourth Quarter

The Zebras picked up 20 yards to advance to the Hope 40 where stiff line play by the Bobcats forced Payne to punt to Eason on his own 5. Eason and Parsons made 8 yards and on third down Parsons pointed to his 35. Fulkerson shoved Langston back for a 5-yard loss. Passes and line plays failed, Payne punting over the Hope goal line on fourth down.

The ball was brought back out on the 20. The Bobcats were unable to gain on a line play. A pass fell incomplete and Parsons pointed to the Pine Bluff 45. Hope soon took possession again when Payne pointed to Eason on his 40. Parsons passed to Eason for nine yards, but were held on the next two plays. Parsons pointing to the Pine Bluff 25.

Strong line play held the Zebras for little gain and Payne pointed to Eason on the Hope 35. With about one minute left to play, Payne intercepted Parsons' pass and ran to the Hope 40. It looked as though the Zebras were headed for a touchdown, a reverse play taking the ball to the 30. Stallworth moved it nearer the goal with a 10-yard gain. Two more plays took it to the 15 as the gun ended the battle.

Outstanding in the Hope lineup were Captain Dean Parsons, Bobby Ellen, Jack Fulkerson and Jimmy Taylor. Other members of the team played good football and fought hard.

Summary of Game

First downs, Hope 7; Pine Bluff 16. Hope attempted 16 passes, completed seven and had two intercepted. Pine Bluff attempted 19, completed eight and had two intercepted. Hope was penalized three times for a loss of 25 yards. Pine Bluff penalized seven times for a loss of 45 yards. Scoring touchdowns for Hope were Parsons and Green, for Pine Bluff, Langston, Lafitte and Leftwich.

Since announcing my candidacy for the office of Mayor, I have had serious illness in my family, which has kept me from making a personal house-to-house campaign, and explaining to each and every voter the importance of carefully selecting the next Mayor of our City. Therefore, I take this opportunity to state my position on the more important matters involved.

As your Mayor I shall endeavor to see that the City co-operates and does its part to secure work projects and W.P.A. funds for the City.

We need more highways in Hope and its trade territory; and as your Mayor I shall use my best efforts to secure more and better highways for Hope and its trade territory.

I shall oppose any and every move, or attempted move, to SELL, LEASE, OR OTHERWISE DISPOSE OF OUR MUNICIPAL WATER AND LIGHT PLANT. Every patriotic citizen of Hope should have this same attitude toward our water and light plant.

I have made no promises to anyone about any appointment or recommendation as to any job, position or office, and will not do so until after I am elected.

As your Mayor I will bring to the office the experience I have gained, and will devote the proper time and energy to the duties of the office to make Hope the finest and best City of Southwest Arkansas.

developed later that the flames veered around this as well as 150 homes in the Topanga canyon community of Fernwood, first reported burned.

Bel-Air, exclusive residential colony containing homes of many prominent film personages, is several miles east of the main fire area.

Seventy-five firemen, with trucks and hose averted possible destruction of the ranch estate of the late Will Rogers, actor-humorist, while members of his family loaded valuable belongings into vans, ready for flight. Approaching on three sides, the fire cast an ember that ignited a corner of the stables, but this was quickly extinguished.

Mrs. Betty Rogers finally was induced to leave by automobile, but her children, Will, Jr., Mary and James, remained behind with actors Carrillo and Bruce Cabot to aid the firemen.

It was unofficially estimated that 35 to 45 square miles were burned over in the Santa Monica mountain region.

Most of the destroyed homes and cabins were in the Topanga canyon area near the ocean and a few miles north of Santa Monica. In Topanga canyon, 100 cabins are known to have been destroyed. Known losses in nearby localities included eight cabins and a store at Castellamare beach, and 19 other cabins in areas northward.

Marcel, a boy who is a choice son of a rich family.

CHAPTER XVII

"HER housewarming was even worse than it would have been if no one had come," said Diane. "I, for one, am through. It was bad enough to be laughed at by those phony celebrities. But to keep trying to make Marcel see the light just because Dwight's unhappy—that's too much!"

Judy was forced to admit that Diane was right. She said, "Forget it, Diane. I'll never mention it again. I know you tried, and that was sweet of you. I promise to torture my friends no more."

"But now about yourself?" said Diane to keep torturing Judy.

Judy dropped her eyes swiftly, and Diane said, "Sorry."

For weeks afterward, the wives on the station talked about the party. But then it died down, and Judy was glad. As Jack Hanley said sensibly, "There's nothing you can do for her. You tried, and she cheered it herself. Let her alone!"

Dwight did not telephone or come to see her. He had finally realized, Judy felt, that merely telling Marcel wasn't enough. Anyway, she didn't want anyone to tell her. She was running her own show.

The first sharp pain had settled into a constant feeling of emptiness. Judy tried by seeing Jack every night his ship was in, to fill that void. And then, just before the Texarkana was due to shove off to Bremerton to be laid up in drydock for overhaul, Chris Whiting, Jack's classmate, asked her and Jack to have dinner with him aboard the ship.

Judy hadn't been aboard the Texarkana since the night Dwight told her he was going to marry Marcel. She shrank from going. But she couldn't bear to let Jack know, and so she went.

SHE had hoped that Dwight would not have the duty tonight. She didn't want to see him, but if he was aboard, she knew she would. However, she had not expected to find Marcel. Yet when she entered the ward room, Marcel was the first person she saw. Marcel in a stunning green dinner dress that matched her eyes. Marcel sitting in a deep leather chair, smoking, and looking as though she were very much accustomed to the hospitality of the mess.

"How nice to see you!" Marcel said. But her eyes were hostile at once.

"Judy!" Dwight held her hand tightly. "Marcel and I have been meaning to get over for a visit but—"

"You must be very busy," said Judy, smiling. It was comforting to know that Jack was close. She turned, and greeted Chris, and the moment passed.

At the dinner table, Judy sat between Jack and Chris. Marcel and Dwight were opposite. But Marcel paid little attention to the other girl. She saved her smiles and her conversation for the mess. Judy was relieved rather than offended. She listened to Marcel telling Chris how difficult it was to make up her mind. "One minute I want to go to Bremerton, to be with Dwight when he gets there. The next minute, I think I'd have more fun if I went to Los Angeles. Some friends are taking a cruise in their yacht. That would be nice, too."

After dinner, Chris said that he had some new pictures he wanted Jack and Judy to see. "Spanish stuff," he found them in a little shop on the waterfront.

Marcel said quickly, "Oh, mayn't we come too, Lieutenant Whiting?"

"Delighted to have you, Mrs. Campbell," Chris said politely. But he wasn't delighted, and neither was Judy. The whole evening would be spoiled if she had to remain under the unfriendly glance of Marcel's green eyes.

DWIGHT's wife exclaimed over the pictures. She said, "Some day I'm going to have a great big redwooded house like this one, here." She described the pictures her interior decorator had purchased for her. But when Chris handed one of the pictures to Judy, Marcel lost interest, and drifted toward the curtained doorway, as if impatient to leave.

"Balboa and the Conquistadores and all the old romantic history of California!" Judy asked.

"That's why I bought it," said Chris. "As art it's no great shakes."

"Chris paints himself, you know," Jack explained. "At the Academy he—"

Suddenly they were aware of voices from outside. Someone was passing along the narrow corridor and saying clearly, "I'd tell any wife of mine where she got off! Dinner aboard is all right once in a while, but every night for two weeks is too much. Talk about messroom bills—"

Another man's voice replied. "Oh, Campbell hasn't been married long. He'll put her wise as soon as— They were gone."

THE picture in Judy's hands fell to the desk. She looked at Jack, whose face was a study. Chris made for the doorway suddenly, as if he wanted to overhear the speakers.

Judy touched his sleeve. "Don't," she said. "It would only make a scene."

But Marcel, standing as if rooted to the spot, was livid with fury. "How dare they!" she cried passionately. "Dwight! You know who they were!"

Dwight was pale. He said slowly, "Just a couple of ensigns. They—it was unpardonable, but they're young—"

"There's too much hot air about these young squirts fresh out of the Academy!" said Chris. "That was raw!"

Judy remembered that in the Junior Officers' Mess, as well as in the Wardroom, everyone paid his share of the expenses. Messroom bills took a large slice out of an ensign's small pay. Entertaining guests would make the figure jump. If a man had his wife constantly to dinner, that was almost like asking his shipmates to pay for her meals.

She turned to the pictures again, and said something about them, as if nothing had happened. Marcel was still biting her lip when they left the room, but by tacit consent, everyone else had dropped the matter.

Later, getting up to go into Dwight's room to comb her hair, Marcel said evenly, "Won't you come, too, Miss Alcott?"

Judy understood that Marcel wanted to question her. She was right. "Do you know who those men were?" Marcel asked, as soon as they were alone.

"No, I don't," Judy said truthfully. She looked at the other girl's snapping green eyes, and the way her exquisitely shod foot tapped the deck. She said, "After all, although they were very ill-bred, it is true that constant company at dinner makes messroom bills go up. I'm sure you didn't know that."

"Listen!" Marcel said tightly. "You know just who they were, and that's the sort of thing you've been saying about me yourself. You and your friends! Well, let me tell you this: I never liked you, I don't like you now. I hate the Navy. You're just waiting around to pick the bones of my marriage." The little comb she had taken from her handbag snapped in her fingers. "I'll show you up yet!"

Smart Tulsa Team
Holds Razorbacks

Game Ends in 6 to 6 Dead-lock After Hard Battle

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—A plucky band of University of Tulsa football players, outwitted and unfavored, held the University of Arkansas' big red Razorbacks to a 6-6 tie Thursday in the fifteenth test of their inter-conference Thanksgiving Day rivalry.

Both teams obviously were hampered by the cold that stiffened the fingers of pass receivers, slowed down the running of ball carriers used to warm weather and kept 15,000 spectators, a capacity crowd, shivering in their seats at Skelly Stadium.

The Razorbacks had the advantage on the ground throughout the game. They found their passed smothered by the air defense the Golden Hurricane had prepared for them. On the other hand, Tossing Tommy Thompson's touchdown pass saved the day for Tulsa.

Badly battered, the Tulsans were lucky to hold off the desperate attempts of the Porkers to score by ground or air during the last period.

Early in the first period the Hurricane found itself backed up before its own goal but the fresh line held tight on the 11 and big Guard Simington dropped back and tried a field goal. He was rushed too hard and the try was low.

In the same period Tulsa blew up a scoring chance after one of Thompson's passes gave it the ball on the Porker two. There George Farmer fumbled a pass from center and the Porkers took the ball on their own five.

In the second the Hurricane warmed up and Thompson's passes started working until one of them, a great heave, plopped squarely into the arms of Left End Reagan Gregory and he whirled over the touchdown with not a twinkler near him. Johnson's place-kick attempt went wide.

The Razorbacks fought off a Tulsa drive early in the third and then staged a better one of their own that was successful.

Halfback Ralph Atwood made the tally on as pretty a sweep to his right end as you'd want to see. He ran straight toward the sidelines, pulled everybody out of position, suddenly turned at a right angle and shoe over like an arrow from the seven yard line.

Quarterback Mosely tried for the extra point that would have put Arkansas ahead but he found himself rushed too hard and the conversion attempt was wide.

Throughout the final period both teams showed the effects of the milling but Arkansas was the stronger on the ground. The game's end found Guy Grey heaving pass after pass in a wild effort to put the Porkers in the win column.

Somehow, the tiring Hurricane defense men battled them all down.

The Tulsans, beset by injuries all season, were a badly battered ball club when they wound up their final game. George Farmer, a fine back, injured again his arm which was hurt several days ago and Tommy Thompson, playing with a bad knee, was limping badly. Tulsa's best ground gainer, Morris White played only a few minutes of the game.

Arkansas gained 162 yards on the ground to 54 for Tulsa and returned kicks 140 yards to Tulsa's 26.

The Porkers tried 20 passes and completed only four which netted them 47 yards. The Hurricane tried nine, completed six and gained 101 yards thereby.

Tulsa was playing without the leadership of Head Coach Vic Hurt, laid up with a severe cold and Assistant Coaches Chet Benefield and George Volk directed the team.

Texas Longhorns
Upset Aggies, 7-6

Bible's Team Outplays A. & M. Before 36,000 Stunned Fans

AUSTIN, Texas.—(AP)—Out of the ashes of eight straight defeats rose the University of Texas in full gallantry Thursday—gallantry that submerged the Texas Aggies, 7-6, and stunned 36,000 who came to see them trampled into a victorious season.

It wasn't an accident—it was Texas' game all the way.

Bandaged "tripples" and able-bodied ball carriers who had missed fire all season banded together for an incredible afternoon that kept alive the jinx that has prevented the Aggies from winning a game in Memorial stadium in the past 16 years.

Three times the Texans salmanned down to the Aggies' three before they were finally led over in the fading minutes by slender Nelson Puetz, Jr.

Viciously they fought off the stunned Cadets until the last 20 seconds. And then they practically presented the Cadets with their touchdown by fumbling back of their own goal line. Albrich recovered for the score.

The fight that had carried them up to the game's end lasted for the crucial try-for-point. Over the center of the mountains Aggie line waded Roy Baines, Texas center, to block Dick Todd's conversion.

By a quirk of fate, Texas scored its upset on the first try for point it had negotiated all season—a failing that had cost them a possible victory or two and a tie.

Wallace Lawson, halfback ace, sent the ball spinning through the uprights for the point which told the tale.

So stout was the Texas defense the Aggies could try only three running plays for the first 22 minutes of the game, the Longhorns keeping them deep in the danger zone that forced kicks on first downs.

Not until late in the third quarter did the Aggie penetrate as far as the Texas 17—their best march.

Third State Title
Won by Teachers

Arkansas Bears Hang Up 21 to 7 Win Over Tech

CONWAY, Ark.—(AP)—The Arkansas State Teachers College annexed its third straight state football championship Thursday by handing Arkansas Tech a 21 to 7 defeat before 5000 fans. The victory closed the Bears' third season without a defeat of an Arkansas foe.

Tech outgained the champions on the ground and through the air but the Wonder Boys were able to take advantage of but one of six scoring opportunities. The Teachers, on the other hand, were able to crash in on three of their four scoring chances.

The Teachers started off in the first period when Heath spun over from the five yard line after he had passed 16 yards to Turner. The Heath to Turner pass followed a 28-yard aerial from Heath to Badridge.

Martindale drove over from the three yard line on the first play of the last quarter after Turner, left end, recovered a Tech fumble on the 12.

Badridge scored the third marker for the Bears. Heath intercepted a pass and ran it back 20 yards to Tech's 36. Badridge went around end for nine yards and Tech drew a 15 yard penalty for roughing the little Bear back. Badridge and Martindale juggled the ball to the one from where Badridge went over.

Turner kicked all three of the Bear extra points.

The Wonder Boys scored their lone marker in the last two minutes, resorting to the ancient Statue of Liberty play to turn the trick. Hickey took the ball and rambled 35 yards for the score and then booted the extra point.

Hickey and Garvin Salmon electrified the crowd with their brilliant runs. Salmon returned a fourth quarter kick-off for 58 yards and he and Hickey each turned in runs up to 38 yards.

Jones, center, played brilliant defensive football in the Teachers' rugged line and Heath's punting, passing, ball carrying and defensive work made him the Teachers hero number one.
